"STU. G.," as the Student Government Association is termed in the abbreviated language of the undergraduates, embraces the student body; all girls from the moment of their entrance into Simmons are active members. From this large group, twelve girls are elected by their classmates to solve the student administrative problems and carry out the routine business.

The thrill of one's college life comes when and if one is elected to "Stu. G."; but that thrill can be only a mere tingle compared to that experienced by the President of Student Government, when her election is announced at the May Day Party, and she wears, as the symbol of her high office, the very old Simmons necklace, an heirloom of the John Simmons family.

Dormitory Council

JEAN BURT

MARYROSE PETERS

FOR the benefit of those who wonder, we here state that the house chairmen do exist for more than the purpose of squelching the girl who insists in giving an "amplified" account of her Biology exam after quiet hours. The house chairmen meet every Tuesday to regulate dormitory life by making or unmaking rules and making girls show some respect for them.

Through Dormitory Council, to Student Government for ratification, and to Advisory Board for final sanction, go rules not to smoke on the colonnades before dinner, as well as suggestions for the "pepping up" of dorm social life. An interesting thing done along that line this year was the open-house given for freshmen trying to select rooms for next year.

Honor Committee

ESTHER SCHOONMAKER
Chairman

GRACE MILLER
Secretary

SURELY you remember that among the tangle of words presented you at Freshman Registration were some which were to the effect that registering as a student of Simmons College was the acceptance of the principles of the Honor System. You nodded your head, or asked the Junior Sister if you should sign anything quite so legal-sounding.

Later you found that that statement was a promise neither to give nor to receive aid in any quiz or examination, nor to use any source material without explicitly noting the source. The duty of Honor Committee is to educate the student body to the proper observance of Honor Code and to deal with any violations of the code in the academic field. The Committee is comprised of four Seniors and three Juniors elected by Student Government Council, with the President of Student Government as member ex-officio.

Dormitory Board

JEAN BURT
Chairman

MARTHA GLASS
Secretary

WITHIN Dormitory Council there exists a Dormitory Board composed of ten members. Before this Board come the students who have disregarded or been mistaken about dormitory regulations.

The Vice-President of Student Government is Chairman of the Board, while under her are three Seniors, two Juniors, one Sophomore and one Freshman elected by the Dormitory Council; the President of Student Government and the chairman of Honor Committee are members ex-officio.

THIS committee, whose name brings merely a vague association with Student Government Council, was formed for the purpose of aiding that body with its dormitory problems. It is composed of the Dean, three members of the instructing staff who are graduates of the college, appointed by the President, and three members of the Student Government Council.

All dormitory rules and questions proposed by Student Government are referred to this Committee, which discusses them freely. On the basis of the opinion expressed in these meetings, the Dean accepts or rejects the proposals submitted.

HARKING back again to another day—or another age—we see ourselves drinking deeply at the fountain of knowledge, the Freshman Bible, promising ourselves that, among other things, we would, of course belong to Academy—it would be so nice to wear that distinctive blue and gold ribbon on cap-and-gown occasions.

But it is the exceptional student who passes into that august body. However, we hear that the teas and open meetings around the fireplace in North Hall have been extremely interesting with College instructors, outside speakers or members leading the discussions.

THE Ann Strong Student Club, bearing the name of the first director of the School of Nursing, is still in its infancy, having been organized only in 1933 as a club for the students in the Nursing School. It is a strong connecting link between the upperclassmen who have donned their student nurses' uniforms and black stockings, and the "youngsters" who are still caring for test tubes instead of patients.

THE Arts and Crafts Guild is one of the newest organizations in point of time, but it has already made a name for itself. Its purpose is to develop hobbies in art and handicraft work and to provide enjoyment and teaching in these fields.

A unique system of club organization has been worked out, based on the old Guild idea. The membership is kept small and new members are admitted as apprentices for a three-months' trial. If they still desire to continue, they may then become full members, with increased opportunities for learning.

The Arts and Crafts Guild has established a reputation for unusual entertainments. Some of the more important of these have been a photography lecture, a marionette show, and a most interesting lecture and demonstration by Dahl, well-known cartoonist for the Boston Herald.

THE purpose of the Christian Science Organization is to bring about a greater realization of friendship and cooperation among the Christian Scientists of the college, to share the joys which result from the theory and practice of Christian Science and to offer to all an opportunity to learn its doctrines.

Weekly meetings were held this year, with different speakers from the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church at Boston.

FOR those who have forgotten for what that mystifying name, 020, stands, we explain that it is a Librarian's way of saying Library Economy. At any rate, that is the only abacadabra about the club; for the rest, the club is organized to further the social relationships among Juniors, Seniors, and Graduate Students in the Library School, and to increase their professional interests by contact with librarians and literary people.

GONE are the days of the shorn and drawn-back locks, the borrowed tight-hipped trousers and the squeaky, clod-hopper shoes—or at least so it would seem from the flying start to which the Dramatic Club got off this year with its annual All-College Play. Will wonders never cease!

The Torchbearers (we are coming to salient facts) was given in cooperation with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Dramashop. And we who saw it must admit that the boys did seem quite a bit more at home in their togs than the girls have of previous years. The affair was a great success and the college pleads for more.

OCTOBER brings out the "initation feeling" in Ellen Richards members and it is a common sight to see these Science students walking through the halls with a strainer of boiled spaghetti and a test tube full of "peeled" grapes. Why? Initiation.

But Ellen Richards girls are more than mere addicts to boiled spaghetti initiations. They have monthly teas at which prominent speakers present topics of scientific interest.

Ellen Richards was not, as one might think, a graduate of the Simmons Science School. The club is named, instead, in honor of the first woman to graduate from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. And we all agree that that was, and perhaps still is, a feat.

BOTH the School of English and the English Club are yet young; upon the heels of the introduction of the school came the club, founded two years ago primarily for the students in the new school.

Until this year the English Club was concerned merely with teas and speakers, but now it has a real purpose in life—to bring forth a bigger and better Per-Simmons twice a year. This year's first effort was rewarded with oohs and ahs, as well as (much needed) quarters.

FORUM brings a great variety of speakers to the dormitory students who grasp, from these talks, all the different views on current questions. History and social conditions seem to have the most interest to the girls as they hear first the background of the Italo-Ethiopian situation, and then the plans going into effect in the East Boston Slum Clearance project.

THIS club aims to acquaint students with the professional openings in the Home Economics field. But we'll wager that the dormitory students' most vivid memories of the club are the 9:30 food sales, swamped by hungry students, and the mending service —buttons so much, rips, another so much, and hems a little more.

In the club itself there are monthly meetings at which graduates frequently speak of their experiences in the business world, and there are trips to commercial production plants.

The income from dues, food sales, catering, and the newly-established mending service enable the Club to affiliate with the Massachusetts, New England, and National Home Economics Association, to send a delegate to the National Convention, to create a scholarship for a worthy Home Ec student, and to hold an annual banquet for new members.

THE MICROCOSM staff is composed of members from each class, who devote considerable time and effort to the creation of a suitable record of the year's round of activities here at Simmons. It is aided in this endeavor by Student Government Association which stands back of the yearbook in the event that subscriptions, the annual dance, and contributions from college organizations should not be sufficient to make it self-supporting.

This Mic has been made possible through the cooperation of our subscribers, the innumerable suggestions of Miss Burnett and Miss Sutherland, and aided by the guidance of our faculty advisor, Mr. Sypher. For all this help, we express our thanks.

THE Menorah Society at Simmons aims to bring the Jewish students into closer contact with each other and with the Jewish student body of other colleges. It further aims to promote the study of Jewish ideals and culture.

The social program this year consisted of a series of teas, a formal dinner dance and a formal dance. Joint meetings were held with the various Menorah groups as well as a series of dances in conjunction with the Intercollegiate Menorah Association. A connection was established with the New England Council of Avukah, which has very obligingly assisted in planning a discussion of Jewish problems—past, present, and future.

At the monthly teas held in the Lounge, lectures were given by prominent priests. Besides these monthly meetings at Simmons, there are others held on the second Sunday of every month at various nearby colleges. During the college year there were Communion Breakfasts, a bridge party, and the annual Formal Dance.

MUSICAL ASSOCIATION has sung lustily this year under the direction of Mr. Ring and the first date on their program was the Christmas Vesper Concert in the candle-lit Refectory. After that came the medieval carol chorus at Olde English Dinner, when the girls dressed in dark blue serge "things," wore red caps and scarves, and carried candles as well as tunes.

There is always a joint concert, of course, and the boys of the "other half" just crowd in to help make it a huge success. This year the University of New Hampshire's Male Chorus lent their vocal support.

THE Peace Society at Simmons College was conceived at our first Strike for Peace held on April 12, 1935. We who took part in that dramatic gesture wanted to organize a club where we could carry on peace education and peace action throughout the year.

When the American Student Union was formed at the national convention in Columbus, Ohio, during the Christmas vacation of 1935, the members of the Peace Society unanimously decided to join it. They realized that the fight for peace was not to be won without working also for freedom, security, equality, and justice, the principles for which the A. S. U. stands.

May the students of Simmons College obtain an ever-growing insight into the implications of the society in which we live and learn to make an intelligent contribution to it!

FROM amalgamation to independence and back to amalgamation! At least that is the very, very brief history of Per-Simmons, first published in 1931 as a literary supplement to News, given magazine form in 1932, though still remaining a supplement. It finally became independent in 1933 and this year fell into the hands of the English Club.

Under the new management, Per-Simmons came forth twice during the year, changed considerably in make-up and editorial policy.

POETRY Club, in spite of its aesthetic-sounding name, is no refuge for the haunted, high-brow souls—it is, rather, a gathering of girls who enjoy hearty discussions on poetry, good readings, and occasional lapses into the metric medium themselves. They bring forth many clever things for both News and Per-Simmons.

Meeting twice a month, on Mondays, the students interested in this field, hear their own members, faculty, or outsiders give highlights on the different angles in poetry and poets. Mr. de Mille has been a true friend and advisor to the struggling young seekers after the Muse, and members are deeply grateful to him for his interest.

WHEREVER there's a crowd at 3:11 Thursday, behind it is a fast-dwindling pile of News copies. The weekly paper is popular for its presentation of the news of the week, feature stories about the most inconceivable subjects, and the most recent addition, a short story.

There are quite a few changes in this year's make-up and editorial policy, most notable of which were the larger size, the fashion notes, the more dignified social news and the above-mentioned short story.

The social climax of the year was News Dance, held at the Hotel Statler on the unique date of February 29.

THE Committee on Social Activities has completed its first year at Simmons without having carried out all of the plans which were made at its inception. It has, however, made great strides in fulfilling its main purpose, to improve the social life of the dormitory girls.

The informal Wednesday night dinners for faculty guests, the exchanging of students between campus and the freshman dorms at dinner, and the informal house dances are among the innovations which have been placed on a firm footing this year.

There is no doubt that the Committee will continue to keep on the look-out for occasions when it may step in and make a real contribution to the lives of Simmons girls.

SIMMONS Unity Club is open to students and faculty of all Protestant faiths. Its purpose is to bring together all students of liberal religious ideals, to promote friendships, and to stimulate the exchange of beliefs and opinions in regard to religion, national affairs, and life. Unity Club holds its meetings on the third Monday of the month, at which time an outside speaker addresses the group and then ample time is reserved for a bit of sociability among the students and guests.

Activities of the club are not limited to the monthly meetings. Several times a year there are conferences with prominent speakers and round-table discussions held under the auspices of the Boston Unitarian-Universalist Student Council, of which the Simmons Unity Club is a member. In the spring, the club holds its annual formal dance.

THE Y's activities have been ever so varied this year—from teas to religious conferences, and from picnics to evenings at the Stuart Street Y.

This organization reminds the History student of the maxim of the eighteenth century philosophers who took "all knowledge to be their province." While the Y makes no such grandiloquent generalizations, there does seem to be a resemblance in that their interests also are wide. Psychology, social adjustment, good sportsmanship and sound thinking are but a few of the problems with which the Y deals.

THE athletes of Simmons have been going in for a combination of athletics and social activities and nothing could have been more appropriate than S.A.A.'s Winter Carnival dance. It was held in the Refectory which, under the tons of winter sports' equipment, lost every resemblance to a regular dining-hall.

But social activities are not all—and S.A.A. members are ardent ping-pong, hockey, archery, basketball, swimming and riding fans. One thing which added quite a bit to the sporting element of the club was the Faculty-Student Ping-Pong Tournament.

Good Yearbooks Don't "Just Happen"

THEY may vary tremendously in size, design, and cost, but all successful yearbooks have one thing in common . . . they represent hours of careful planning and painstaking workmanship.

The 1936 Microcosm is no exception. The staff has worked long and diligently in order to make it an interesting and accurate record of the college year.

It has been our privilege to assist in the publication of the book, working in close association with the members of the board. We wish to take this opportunity to thank them for their co-operation and to congratulate them on the results of their labors.
